We've all heard about the new energy economy, but the issues we face are beyond just energy. Learn how the world's major corporations and thought-leading governments are using true sustainability thinking to drive innovation, competitive advantage and JOBS across the entire economy!

The Summit offers sustainability best practices learned and implemented by corporate giants like Wal-Mart, MillerCoors, ProLogis, Waste Management, PepsiCo, AT&T, KPMG and United Airlines that you can adopt, too. Highlights also include speakers from some of America's greenest and most vibrant communities, including Portland, Oregon and San Jose, California.

Idea sharing isn't just one way. Networking time between sessions offers an opportunity to mingle with hundreds of others seeking to understand how innovative and sustainable business thinking is the REAL driver of the new global economy.

AND.....Have Some Fun, Too!

Ever seen a Tesla Roadster? Well, now you can...at the Summit Expo!

Enter a drawing to win a free test-drive and dinner at one of Boulder's most popular and sustainable restaurants. Tantalizing Tesla speed not enough? Don't miss the closing reception and the chance to win tickets for the Avalanche, the Nuggets or the Rapids, a free energy audit, dinner at one of Denver's green restaurants or one of many other high-value prizes. You have to be there to win!!

Sustainability IS the future of our economy!

Summit Expo

Tuesday, Wednesday, & Thursday March 2 - 4, 2010

Featuring the Rocky Mountain Cleantech Industry

Look Who's Exhibiting!!

Only a few exhibit booths are left. A booth includes two full conference registrations!

Contact Mary Austin at mary@corecolorado.org / 303.775.2364 to reserve today!

In 2010, the Expo that has always been a part of the Summit will showcase the vibrant cleantech industry emerging in Colorado and the Rocky Mountain Region. Leaders and influencers from business, finance and academia who are focused on environmental, social and economic sustainability will be exhibiting and talking about their products and services. You can't get all this in one place anywhere else.

The Expo will be open to the general public Tuesday evening, March 2, during the opening reception prior to the opening of the conference itself on March 3. Of course, it will also be open to the Summit's registered attendees Tuesday evening and throughout the conference.

Join us at the 2010 Sustainable Opportunities Summit & Expo to connect with hundreds of colleagues dedicated to fostering economic responsibility today for a more sustainable tomorrow.
